

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna can hope to get its beneficial effects, and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy, the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package, and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere; one size only. Regular price 50 cents per bottle. Get a bottle today to have in the house when needed.

MINIMUM RATE FOR ALL CONSUMERS IS BLOW TO TENEMENT FAMILIES

Mexicans in Southern Part of Town Will Feel It Most. Rooming and Apartment Houses Affected.

In the Tuesday morning mail water consumers will get their first illustration of the practical working of the order of the United States district court, which gives the International Water company, through its receiver, J. M. Wyatt, the right to charge 90 cents per month to each consumer or unit occupying a house. Notices to this effect were sent out in the mail yesterday from the office of the water company, together with an estimate of the number of consumers in each house which comes under the minimum unit rule. This estimate has been prepared by the water company officials, and the notice includes a request to give the company the correct facts, where it is in error, regarding the number of consumers that any property accommodates.

That the water users will not be slow in correcting the water company on its estimate is to be expected. A howl that is expected to extend from river to mesa is expected when the notices are received informing the owners of tenement houses, rooming houses and the Mexican community quarters in the south part of the city that they will be charged at a rate of 90 cents a month for each family occupying the house, unless the maximum consumption of water as shown by the meter reading, estimated at 20 cents per 1000 gallons, gives an amount greater than the sum of the minimum charges, in which case the bills will be rendered on the meter readings.

One little crumb of comfort is thrown to the consumer in a clause of the notice which says that when any part of the property subject to the minimum charge is vacant for an entire calendar month, and this fact is shown to the company, no minimum charge will be made for such part in that month.

Rooming houses, apartment houses and houses having housekeeping suites, which will be jarred by the ruling of Judge T. S. Maxey. But the owners of these houses will be able to stand the raise in rates, as the rentals will doubtless be boosted to cover the increase in water rates. These tenants, in turn, will have to cut out a few downtown dinners each year to make up the amount of the water rent in the family budget, and all will be well.

Hard on Mexicans. But with the poor Mexican families it will be different. It is said that these families live in tenement buildings on the south side, sometimes as many as 12 and 14 families living in the apartments of a building. As each of these families will come under the classification of the court as units for water, the minimum charge can be made, the owners of the tenements will be forced to charge the tenants an additional 90 cents each to cover his own deficit. To many of the court as units for water, a much is the difference between existence and want, and should the rate be enforced in the Mexican quarter the effect is expected to be hard on these people.

In defense of the ruling the officials of the company say that the owners of the various subtened buildings have been charging extra for water service for years, and that the water company should be getting such revenue, instead of the landlords.

SOLDIERS ENJOY BIG SMOKER AS GUESTS OF EL PASO

Infantrymen Are Given a Farewell Before Leaving For Philippines.

Undoubtedly the most enjoyable smoker ever held at the chamber of commerce was that of Monday night when 75 citizens of El Paso turned out to entertain the enlisted men of the 19th infantry, stationed at Fort Bliss for the past two years.

There was music, furnished by the regimental band, cigars of the best and an unequalled supply of liquid refreshments, together with sandwiches and other things to delight the men of the army and those of whom they were the guests.

In the basement of the building, which was the only place of sufficient size to admit of the style of entertainment which had been planned, a feeling of good cheer was evident from the first note that was struck by the band to the closing badger fight.

C. E. Kelly figured prominently in the entertainment, acting as a second for one of the Brown brothers in the three round sparring match and the unprecedented happened—maybe it was a political forecast—"Henry" Kelly's man was defeated.

After the band had sounded a welcome to the refreshment table J. A. Happer made an address of welcome which was short and to the point. He said in part: "On behalf of the citizens of El Paso, I bid you welcome. The 19th infantry has been more useful than any body of men that has been here in the past 50 years. You have proved yourselves true men, true soldiers, true friends and have stood by us."

"Nearly every regiment in the United States army has been here at Fort Bliss during the past 50 years, but to none have we been more attached than to the 19th infantry."

"You will go to the Philippines with the confidence and respect of every man and woman in El Paso. We hope that you will have a safe voyage to the islands, an enjoyable time while there and a safe return and when you do return, you will come to Fort Bliss."

Loud cheers followed this address and the band struck up a lively tune.

The program was as follows:

Duet—"I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now?" J. J. Kelly and O. D. Davis. Song—"Archibald." D. M. Payne. Music—P. Bliss band.

Wrestling match—Dorris and Gooch, neither securing a fall.

Music—P. Bliss band. Dialect stories—Fred Foster. Music—P. Bliss band.

Star Spangled Banner, followed by music, and ending with all standing. Solo—"You, You, You." O. D. Davis. Three round boxing bout—Brown Bros.

Song—"Then You'll Remember Me." J. J. Kelly.

Song and dance—Private McKeown, Co. B.

Song—"Paradise Alley." Dick Callopy, Co. C.

Impersonations—Fred Foster. "Home Sweet Home."

All of the numbers on the program were most interesting, the soldiers taking particular interest in the wrestling match where the men were evenly matched and both proved so skillful that neither could secure a fall.

The men went home in three special cars.

Capt. W. H. Waldron has arrived at Fort Bliss to relieve Capt. Samuel Reddy, and ending with all standing. Solo—"You, You, You." O. D. Davis. Three round boxing bout—Brown Bros.

Post ordinance sergeant Delaney has arrived at Fort Bliss to take station, relieving ordinance sergeant Albert Bieker.

Capt. A. M. Wetherill and Lieut. J. L. Dodge have left for San Francisco, where Capt. Wetherill is to be married prior to the sailing of the 19th to the Orient. Lieut. Dodge is to be best man.

RAILROAD NEWS.

STEEL IS LAID ON GULF LINE

Construction Crew Is Now Working on Line Out of Texoma.

Dalhart, Tex., Jan. 25.—After a delay of some months, construction work on the new Gulf railroad, which was begun in full blast on the Denver and Gulf railroad. This statement is confirmed by William R. Evans, vice president of the company, who is in this city today. Mr. Evans assures the people here that the railroad will be pushed on to completion at an early date and says that the question of finances has been solved.

He says that large shipments of steel, ties and track fixtures have been made to Texoma and that the work of construction is being done out of that place.

The grade has been completed for some time and new large forces are at work spacing ties and laying rails to the northwest. The new road will give Denver another connection with Gulf of Mexico, the route running from the northwest to the southeast from Denver down through east Texas to Port Arthur.

RAILROAD TEACHES COOKING. It is seldom that a railroad takes to teaching cooking, but the Sunset route has taken the way in that regard. In a pamphlet, "A Few Things About Rice and How to Cook It," the road not only advises the rice eaters of Texas, but tells the Texas housewife how to cook rice. Tables are given showing the relative value of rice and potatoes, not to the market, but to the stomach. In view of the recent strike, its suggestions are valuable.

part of the country. They were opposite Port Hudson, Louisiana, when that place was captured by Gen. Banks, and Mr. Terry was in the army that fought Banks up the Red river, culminating in the battles of Mansfield and Pleasant Hill. He left the army on a crutch on account of wounds sustained in the service.

After the war he went to Fort Graham, but later located farther west on the Brazos river, living in Bosque and Hamilton counties until the era of railroad construction was inaugurated in Texas in the early 70's.

Builds Road Into El Paso. He then became a railroad contractor, being engaged at first on the Houston & Texas Central construction work on its first line and later on the construction westward on the Texas & Pacific railroad, which brought him again to El Paso, which has since been his permanent home. He was still engaged in the contracting business when he died.

Soon after leaving the army James E. Terry was married to Miss Elizabeth Jane Nelson, a native of Shelbyville, Tenn. She came to Texas with her parents, the family settling in Rusk county in 1888.

Surviving are a son and three daughters, Randolph Terry, an attorney; Mrs. L. A. Spencer, Mrs. C. E. Patterson, and W. E. Fletcher, all residents of El Paso.

The Funeral. Funeral services were held this afternoon at the chapel of Peak & Lyon, Rev. Caspar S. Wright officiating. The Pioneers' association and the John S. Brown camp, United Confederate veterans, of which Mr. Terry was a member, attended. Members of those organizations acted as pallbearers. Interment was made in the Confederate lot at Evergreen cemetery.

DEATH OF DR. J. M. DICKS IN EL PASO

Promising Career Is Out Short—An Honor Graduate and a Scholar.

Dr. James M. Dicks died at his apartment in the Y. M. C. A. dormitory Monday evening shortly after 6 o'clock. He had been ill for a number of months with typhoid fever and resulting complications and death was not entirely unexpected.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the El Paso County Medical society, the members of the Y. M. C. A., representatives of the country club, of which Dr. Dicks was a member, and his friends in the city will gather at the undertaking chapel of McLean, Simmons and Carr to listen to a short memorial service spoken by Dr. Robert Bruce Smith, of the First Baptist church, on the life of the deceased physician. The remains will be returned to his boyhood home in Augusta, Ga., on the Sunset limited this evening.

Dr. Dicks was born in Greenland, Ga., August 12, 1883, but moved with his parents to Augusta, where he was 7 years old, his father engaged in the hotel business, being proprietor of the Dicks hotel. After completing a primary, grammar school and high school course at Augusta, Dr. Dicks attended the medical department of the University of Georgia, located in his home town. His college career was a brilliant one. He was made a member of one of the leading honorary fraternities of the south, was valedictorian of his graduating class, the class of 1907, and was a charter member of the Alpha Kappa medical fraternity.

While an undergraduate at the University of Georgia, Dr. Dicks was forced to take a temporary leave of absence from his college work because of failing health. He came west for a rest and change of climate, going to Silver City, N. M., in 1904. After recuperating his wasted energies, he returned to college and finished as an honor man with his degree. After his graduation, Dr. Dicks came to El Paso to locate in the practice of his profession, having been a successful practitioner.
